

THE CHOLERA IN FRANCE

VARIOUS VIEWS OF EMINENT MEN CONCERNING IT.

FROM THE REGULAR CORRESPONDENT OF THE TRIBUNE.

PARIS, July 13.

Judge Batchelor, of the International Tribunal of Cairo, and Mrs. and Miss Batchelor are in Paris. The two ladies have been here since last May. The Judge arrived here to join them about ten days ago. He was thinking of making a tour in their company, perhaps in Switzerland, the Styrian Mountains, Sweden, Norway, and taking the Isle of Rugen on the way. When he ventilated this idea to his wife she replied: "You won't do anything of the kind. You'll just go home and give what help you can to Blaine." Like a sagacious husband, he yielded to his better half, and so the whole family start for New-York to-day. Mrs. Batchelor is an ardent Republican and an enthusiastic American. The more she sees of other lands the more she says she loves her own country, especially its institutions.

I talked with Judge Batchelor about the cholera. Last year, he informed me, 75,000 Egyptians were carried off by it. He and his wife were prudent in not tempting the epidemic to attack them, but did not share in the panic which took hold of the European colony. They remained at Cairo when the pestilence was raging there, were careful only to drink water that had been boiled, to sprinkle their clothes and pocket-handkerchiefs with carbolic acid, and to put chloride of lime on plates about the interior of the house. In going to the Tribunal, the Judge had to cross a square through which corpses were being borne from the side streets on the way to the cemetery. He followed with the people the election officers were about equally divided and no charge of cheating, fraud, and tissue ballots until the present election law was brought into play to prevent free registration, a fair ballot, and an honest count. After the present county government system was put into working order the election law was changed so as to work the new system for all it is worth in the interest of the Bourbons. The following part of section 2,680 of the North Carolina code, is a fair sample of the election law enacted for the purpose of preventing free registration of voters:

The residence of a married man shall be where his family resides, and that of a single man where he is born and sleep in another, the place of his residence shall be in the ward or precinct in which he resides, and shall be registered or voted in any ward or precinct to which he shall have removed for the mere purpose of being a voter therein, nor unless he has resided therein six months, and then only if he has registered in another place than in his bona fide residence, and be guilty of a crime, infamy, by the laws of the state, and punished by a fine not exceeding $100, or imprisonment not exceeding two years, or both in duration of the sentence.

Then again, in order to hinder, delay and defeat registration, section 2,681 of the North Carolina code provides as follows:

EX-GOVERNOR GIBBS FOR BLAINE.
BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Ex-Senator Bruce will deliver his first speech in the political campaign at Salem, Ohio, next Friday, when General Robinson, his candidate for Secretary of State, and Congressman E. B. Taylor, General Garfield's successor, will also speak. Mr. Bruce will speak at Cambridge, Ohio, on August 1, and at Providence, R. I., on August 2, and at Worcester, Mass., on September 1, and speak in Ohio and Indiana until toward the close of the campaign, who he will go to New-York to meet engagements already made in that State.

EX-GOVERNOR GIBBS FOR BLAINE.

AN ADDRESS TO PROHIBITIONISTS—WHY ST. JOHN

SHOULD NOT BE SUPPORTED.

The subject of discussion at the meeting of the Manhattan Temperance Association in the Alanson Methodist Episcopal Church, in Norwalk, last night was the action of the National Prohibition Convention to Pittsburg and the duty of temperance advocates. In the opening address J. B. Gibbs, president of the association, said that it was more than probable that the next President would be ex-Governor St. John, and he urged all temperance people to work for his election. General Butler, and the Prohibition candidate would draw enough votes from the two great political parties to throw the election into the House of Representatives. In that event, neither the Republicans nor the Democrats were strong enough to elect their candidate, a compromise would be effected on ex-Governor St. John. Mr. Gibbs then introduced Addison C. Gibbs, the War-Governor of Oregon, and a well-known temperance worker. Mr. Gibbs said that there was no family in the Nation more zealous of Mr. Blaine's election than the Garfield family. Mrs. Garfield, in a conversation with Mr. Rockwell, said that long period did it bestow upon her the full dignity of American citizenship. The son of England, that no man born under her flag could ever renounce allegiance to his government, and that his countrymen's rights are protected to every man by the Democratic Presidents.

That the Democratic party has been and is the sole and persistent advocate of the pro-English policy, and was for Blaine and Logan, believing that their election was for the best interest of the nation. Not only was she, but their children were in favor of Blaine, they want a man who is an American, and who will see that his countrymen's rights are protected to every man by the Democratic Presidents.
